

WNTC Expands Broadcasting

The student management of campus radio station WNTC has announced that the station is now operating on a full seven-day-a-week schedule. The station began this semester's operations during freshman orientation week.

Over 80 Members

One of the largest active organizations on campus, WNTC has over 80 staff members from both Clarkson and SUCEP. Operating at a frequency of 640 kilocycles from their studios on the third floor of Snell Hall Building, the station provides over 50 hours a week of entertainment and news directed toward the college student. With additional transmitters located in both the Clarkson and State dorms, the radio station serves over 1200 students.

As one of the new features of its fall schedule, WNTC has begun broadcasting weekly' international and national news summaries. Another feature this semester is the Collegiate Billboard, which will feature daily announcements of campus activities.

Other Innovations

Other innovations of the station's new operating format are: two Sunday classical music concerts; a weekly jam-session broadcast direct from Lewis House; a regular drama program produced by the Dramatechs, and publication of a program schedule published in the Integrator.

In an effort to provide more entertainment and news for the students of both colleges, while at the same time extending the broadcast training and experience of its members, WNTC plans to broaden the scope of its programming in the future. Some of the proposed ideas include a campus pop-tune parade, increased student participation and discussion programs, extended coverage for students not living in the dormitories, and the use of listener polls to determine student satisfaction with its programming.

Bob Housman operates the controls at the campus radio station, WNTC. (Photo by I. Horowitz).